"Any idiot can see a straight line." -- Mr.Jamison

Wow... 4 years of high school. It's a sad moment, when we get the yearbooks, that is, and everyone will be signing everyone else's yearbook. We'll all say it's so that we don't forget each other. Honestly, I'm no exception. We've had our ups and downs, and now it's coming to an end. I'm gonna go on to play Marimba; I'm really gonna do it for the rest of my life!!! I want to thank Mr.Smith and Mr.Jamison for pushing me all the way, and I want to thank all those people I love and who love me. This road goes somewhere and I don't know where. No philosophy today. I'll miss you.

Benjamin Anthony

Mr. Smith: Hey man! Eric Weeese... what's a number? Winston B. 4C's... the best summer! And here's to all the teachers. You guys rock! And finally Laura K. :-) You made it that much better! Thanks to all those that laughed with me everyday at the jokes, falls, and all the stupid stuff we find funny!
Good luck to future BHS classes, esp. 2010! Good luck, Dan! Latah, BHS!

Elizabeth Atkins

"I've heard that it's possible to grow up-
I've just never met anyone who's actually done it."

Although it has taken four years, I have finally learned to appreciate the high school experience. I understand now: it is supposed to be difficult! Without challenges, how would we grow? Thank you to Mum and Madge for tolerating my essay phobia, providing me with coffee and giving me unconditional love. Thank you to my teachers for supporting me academically and teaching me about so much more than just books. Thank you to my friends for laughing, crying, screaming, singing, changing, venting, and dreaming with me. The waiting is over now.

Nikolas Atsalis

Done with BHS. Sandy Neck with Scott's boat and the bros. Early morning surf, wakeboarding, bonfires, mad concerts, especially WU-Tang, Chili Peppers and Download. Crazy after-school locker fights. Big ups to Mike, Winston, Chelsea, Mat, Jamie, Starkey, Nicky, Tim, Emily. And the whole massive group. Ill times with the non-BHS posse. Mt.Washington. Hard core. Absolutely ridiculous sailing practices, epic Greek classes. Ski trips. Ardeo and EMS. Stoked for college, more stoked for mad wilderness adventures. The four-biscuit story is a lie. Save Planet Earth. Peace.

The food pyramid tells me, "Eat 6-11 servings of grain, 3-5 of dairy daily." I can live with that.To my true friends: you are my grain - you energize me and make me laugh on a daily basis. To Wendy and teachers: you are my veggies - you have taught me to believe in myself and made me stronger. To my family: you are my dairy - you have helped me grow. Mom and Dad: thank you for believing in me. Jake: thanks for being the protective, silly big brother I look up to. I love you all.

Here I have 576 characters or less to sum up my high school career, but in those 576 characters I could never do justice to everything that happened. It has been a long road with a lot of ups and downs. I don't think I could ever forget it so, this is all I have to say. Thanks for the memories.

Oh snap, it's ova? Shoot. I suppose I gotta slap down some thank yous to some really neat people; you should kinda know who you are. Even if you think you should get a thank you, but I'm not talking about you, don't worry about it. Take one anyway. But on a serious note,
I hope I'm remembered, because I'm really gonna remember you guys.

High School isn't only for education - but for developing oneself independently - for there were good and bad days (all which were shared with OSCAR). I'm glad it took 4 years to become my own person - the more energy applied - the better. Mostly developing through color/ winter guard - I applied my development to my school. My friends, my sweet friends - added flavor to school - THANKS - Mom, Dad, Sisters- without you I'd be nowhere. Everyone who's crossed my path has affected me only to build strength - No way can I summarize 4 years in 576 spaces - nor will I try, for it's just the beginning.

In all my years of high school, i have learned that the most important things are these: bowling bumpers do not work; the answer is always 3; unfinsihed work is sometimes the most missed; it's hard to sleep in a tour bus seat; the answer is never Homer or Caesar; soccer is not a game of life and death (but much more important); water is the source of all life; and friendship comes in all forms. Ben, you are my boy, mirrors, call on me, and so much more. Casey 'n' MK, love you to death; always making me laugh. And to everyone else of the Class of 08: you all helped make the past four years a blast. I hope that this isn't a permanent goodbye, but if it is, I won't forget any of you. I came to Barnstable a shy 9th grader, but I'm departing as a confident and mature young man. I had no friends or help, and now lifelong comrades and support. I think everyone knows how fast it was. The 4 years here have been quite the experience. I can fill up pages with the life lessons and the great times I've had in my classes. It's sad but before I blink it will be the 2050's and my daughter will have kids. I can't even grow a full God-for-saken beard! But when that fateful day comes and I am staring at my Spanish moustache, I'm gonna put on my white blazer and blast 80's music.

What can be said? Our whole high school career summarized in a few lines. Well, I couldn't have done it without my friends; I rely on them as they rely on me. What we took from one another we will carry us for the rest of our lives. Coming into high school, I was a short kid walkng through the halls, looking up to everybody. Now, leaving high school, I'm slightly taller, looking back on all the friends, all the memories we shared. Congrats, Class of 08.

There is a trick to a graceful exit. It begins with the wisdom to recognize when a job, a life, or a relationship is over... and let it go. It means leaving what's over without denying its validity or its past importance to our lives. It involves a sense of the future, a belief that every exit line is an entry; that we are moving on rather than out.

Let's sum this up in a nutshell: high school years are the best four years of your life. Even through my hardest year, last year, I had the friends, family, and amazing boyfriend to pull me through it. I used to think I couldn't wait to get out of high school, but now I've realized how many great times I've had at BHS. The friends I've made I would not trade for anything, Big Lindsey Ryan, Cassie Face Sully, Brooke Snizzle Callanan, Julz or 2 feet, Jason, Amik, I know all of you will be successful in whatever you choose to do. Thanks, Mom, for waking me up every morning!

It's hard to think about the future, simply because there are no answers. Will I graduate college? Will I get a good job? Will I still be playing guitar ten years from now? We are taught in high school to solve problems through equations and formulas that simply don't apply to the real world. Well, wherever life may take me, I want only to never forget the person I've become, the friends I've made and the moments we've shared.

How do I sum up my high school experience? Well...of my high school experiences, the thing I have enjoyed the most about BHS is its size. Not because I like being a face in the crowd, but because it makes for a good conversation-starter (and hopefuly will continue to function as such). Good luck to the core group: we will now go our separate ways but on FIRE ISLAND...Thanks to Mom, Dad, Hanna, and of course Bernice, my dependable white chariot.

Good luck to all the art students; you guys are the tops.

Time has given us all the chance to learn "how to be yourself, to be different but the same. That is why we came," and that is why we are going. To my excellent and beloved friends: you made this memorable for me. We will choose our own paths but stay together through what we've shared, which includes the following 6 to 8 items: DI, falcons, pink and green, code names, FIRE ISLAND, and the skulls (boo). There's much left to live and share with all of you; when asked if I am looking forward to it, I definitely state "yeah".

BHS, baby, I've been thinking. It's time for us to see other people. It's been great, really, but four years is a long time and I'm not the same girl I was when we met freshman year. I need to move on and see the world; I need a change. I'm young and there's so much I want to accomplish.
I just can't be tied down to a small town, public school like you anymore.
Don't worry though, baby. You'll always have a special place in my heart.

I don't know how you put up with me, BHS. I hope I'm not just remembered 4 wearing pajamas & glasses on the back of my head. Or saying "Hey Gorgeous" to someone in the hall. I hope I'm remembered as the guy who pushed the envelope on the announcements & BHS Today. Or as the "Rubberbandman" actor in the Drama Club shows. Or the guy who wore Ninja Turtle headbands during XC. When it all comes down, I think it's safe to say that you'll never see anyone like me again (which some of you are happy about). Wow, I forgot my Academy Award moment.

BHS has been a good time, but all good things come to an end. I've made some great friends and done some fun stuff. What stands out most is the JCL and the ridiculousness of Latin. Through my time here I began swimming and haven't looked back.

So, it's over. I leave BHS with a neutral feeling of the high school experience. I'm sure that will change as the years pass - for better, for worse, who knows? And finally, thanks to those three who helped me on countless reports, essays, and projects - couldn't have done them without you.

So senior year...it's been a blast and one of the hardest and most stressful years of our lives, from what classes we take to who is at our lunches. I didn't go to BHS for long, but the years I spent here were amazing. All the opportunities BHS gave us were different from every other school. Since BHS made high school unforgettable, let's make the class of 08 just as memorable for everyone else who walks through these halls after we're gone. Thanks for the best two years of my high school career.

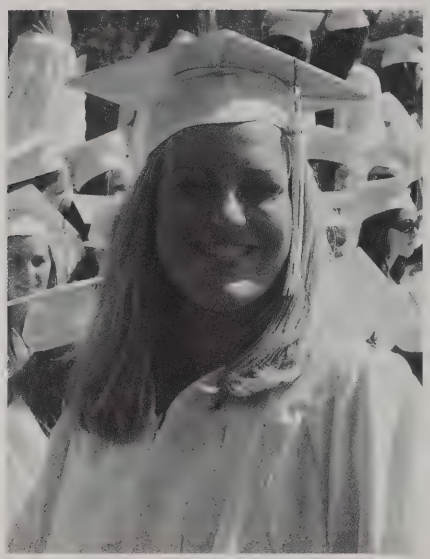
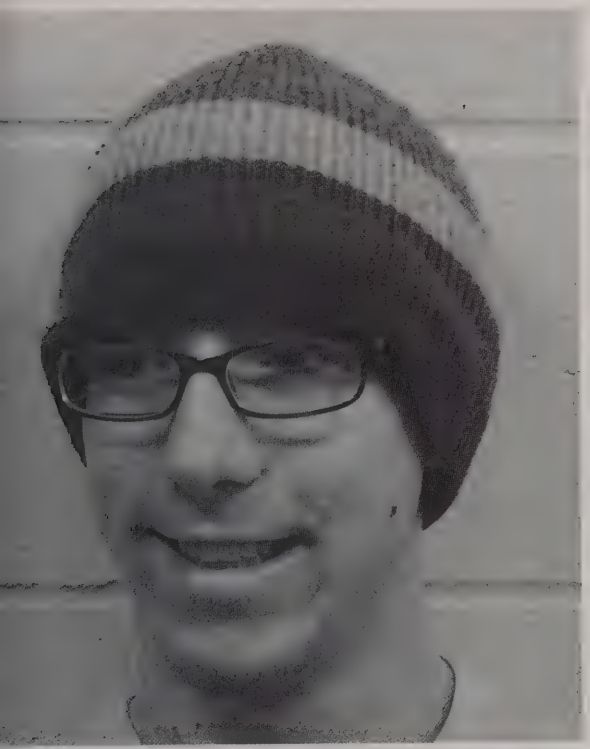
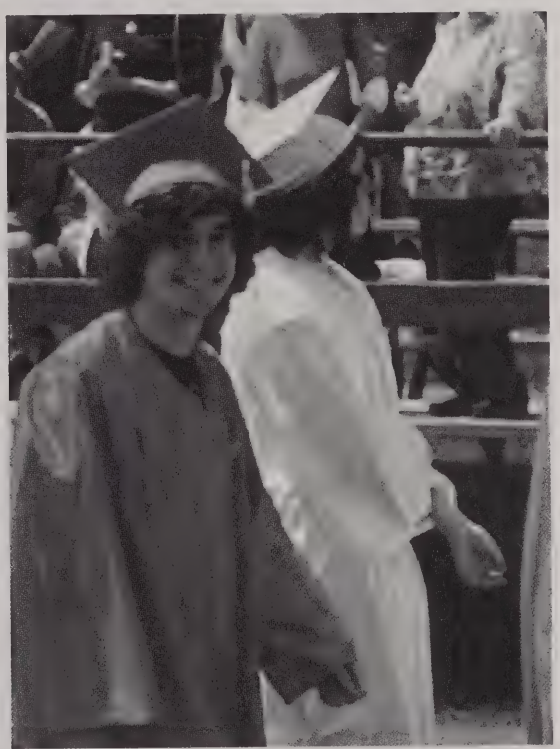
KOOKY KANDIDS



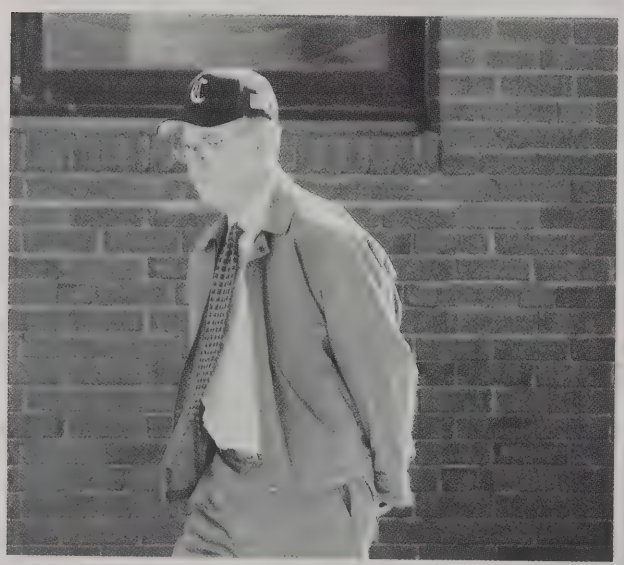
Clockwise from top left: Leah Tracy's beaming at graduation; Kelly Mosher and Jess Emerson: buds 4 eva! Riley King finally got somewhere on time; Sean Kortis shines a little light on the subject; looks like Mrs. Aborn's Stats class is investigating the riddle of Double-Stuft Oreos again...



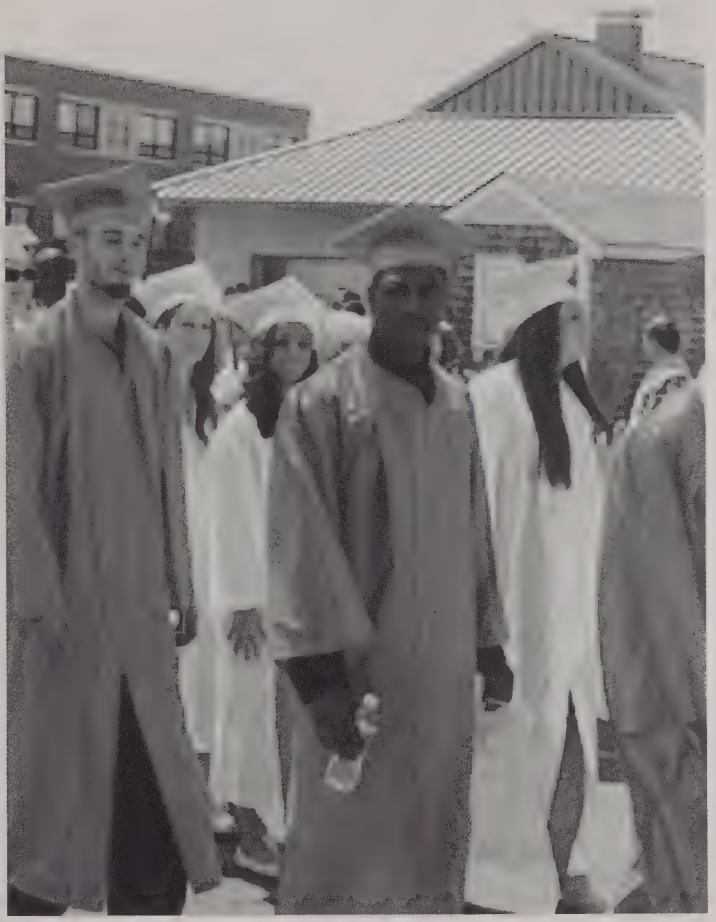


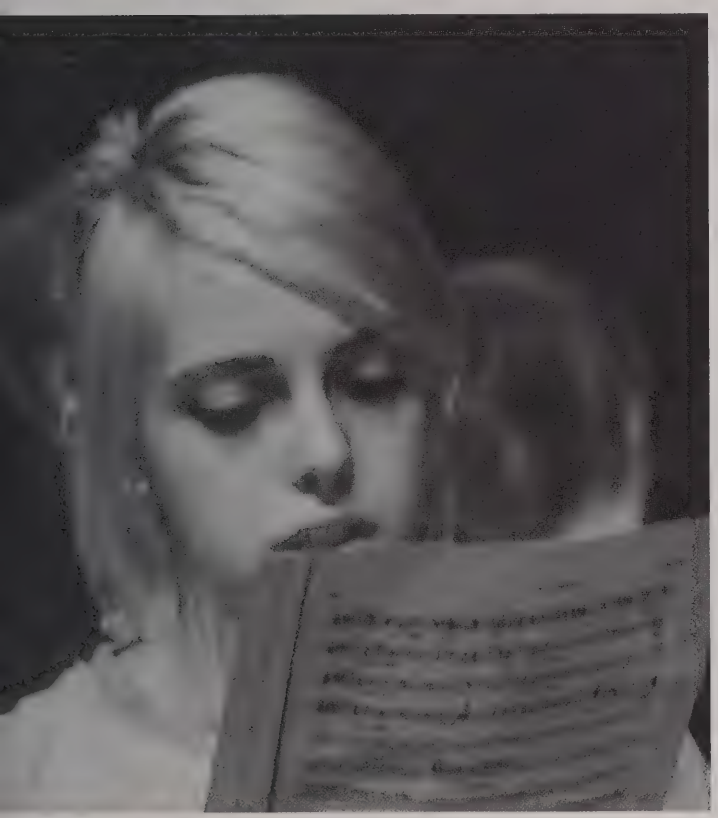
Clockwise from top left:
Elliott Sicard takes a break from the morning announcements; Matt Kohler and Ari Hansen strut their stuff on stage; We knew you'd make it, Coop! The famous "horse of a different color" wows the crowd; Everybody's buddy: Bru-u-u-uce!

COBB ASTRO PARK



Top: "Am I not merciful?" yells Will Turner as the Classics students take advantage of a beautiful day in the Astro Park to wreak make-believe mayhem on each other.
Above: Mr. David Cole, he of the Cobb Fund, the founder of many feasts at BHS.
Right: Siobhan Magnus, Sarah Finn and Jen D'Olimpio in harmony.





Clockwise from top left: "Dave Chapman rocks!" takes on new meaning; Does it get any better than this? Caitlyn Geiler channels Fran Drescher in The Merry Wives of Windsor; Molly Handel is immersed in her sheet music.

And a few final thanks to Dr. Mika, Mr. Gyra, Mrs. Gyra, Mr. Mark Sullivan, Mr. John Sullivan, Jason Pacella (all-round good guy), Harry O'Toole (cover wizardry), Sarah Thornington and Studio by the Sea, Mrs. Janet Johnson, Mr. Andrew Bunker, Mitch and Curtis, Mrs. Stampfl, and...oops, there's the music!

" Toto, I have a feeling we're not in Kansas anymore."

Good luck, Class of 2008, and remember...
"There's no place like home."

It seems like it was just yesterday I was holding you for the first time...
and today I am letting you go.

From the very start, you were an answer to my prayers. I prayed for a beautiful little girl who was full of love and laughter, with a kind heart and spirit.

You are all that and more.

You have no idea how proud we are of you and how much you are loved.

Go forth into this big world and be the best you can be.

Love you more than anything in the world!.

Always,
Mom, Dad and Andrea

To Stephanie

The challenges you now confront
In all you're going through
Help me see the many ways
That I believe in you.

It's hard for me to realize
The things that you must face;
And though I try I can't completely
Step into your place.

But something in my knowledge
Of the depth and soul of you
Gives to every real concern
An optimistic hue.

For when you must respond to life
With pure determination,
Your answer to the challenge
Is a source of inspiration.

And though each day's uncertainty
The future oft obscures,
My hope for you is strong
And my belief in you endures.

Love,
Dad

CONGRATULATIONS, NEFERTITI! WE LOVE YOU!

Nef, God gave the best gift when you arrived. You are my daughter, friend, conscience (sometimes), my sunshine on a cloudy day, and the happiness in my heart. Nef, we have been a team for so long now; however the time has come for you to spread your wings and fly. You are a beautiful girl both inside and out. Don't allow anyone to change the loving, caring, family-oriented child that I have come to love and enjoy. My little procrastinator, you are a gem in the rough; God has supplied you with all the tools that you will need to succeed; use them to develop your dreams and goals. I love you. You are my sunshine. My prayer for you is that you keep God and his love as your guide. I will always be here for you; however, you must always be there for yourself first. Follow your instincts; they are usually right on target. Go for the gold.

Love, Mom

Nefertiti is like that moment that you close your eyes because you need the quiet, the calm, the peace. - Aunt MiMi

Nefertiti is very warm- hearted. Auntie Jean

I have known Nefertiti since arriving at Zion. I have watched her blossom from a little girl with a bright-eyed curiosity into a young lady with a promising future. The gift of intelligence has afforded her many opportunities including the opportunity to travel to other parts of the world to learn more and to help others less fortunate. As she embarks upon life beyond school, I expect that she will continue to be successful. I look forward to following her progress and leave her with this passage from the Bible: "To whom much is given, much is expected." God bless you, Nefertiti! Pastor Bernard Harris Sr. and First Lady Andrea Harris

Nefertootles!
You have been one of my best friends for as long as I can remember. We have grown up together and we share a special friendship like a sisterly bond. I'm so proud of you and I'm happy that we were able to remain friends for such a long time. We have many more moments to share in the future and I will never forget the ones we already have. Good luck in college and the years after. Love you always, Miranda

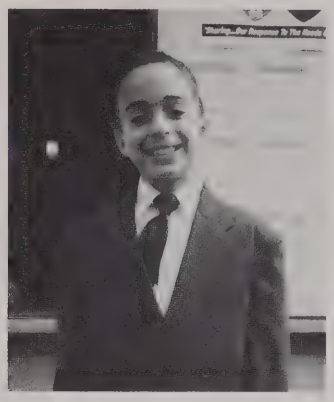
Megan,
I can't believe it's time for you to graduate and go off to college. You were always "my baby"! You have always been such a kind, gentle and caring person. I know you will use that to help others in whatever you choose to do. We are so proud of you! Congratulations!
Love, Mom, Dad, & Michaela
p.s. guess where your sister says to add the line "when you want to be".



Darnel,
"You've Done It!"

Son, we are so proud of the young man you have become, you are certainly a force to be reckoned with when you set your mind to something. Hang on to that thought process. Spread your winds to no height limit. Let no one tell you that you are unable to a achieve something. You are intelligent and courageous enough to walk through all doors of opportunity that open before you. Your strength inspires me. Keep up the good work and you will be successful in all you do. All things are possible if you work hard to achieve it and you will.

--Your family, who love you deeply

Tim -
You've only
